

TAKING AIM—Fayette team member Caden Leininger takes aim at his target during competition Saturday morning. More than 350 archers from 10 area schools took part in the tournament with students as young as fourth grade participating.

ASSISTANCE—Leo Wixom from the Fayette coaching staff helps a Hilltop archer with her scoring and fields a question from Fayette team member Lauren Dale.

Archery

Fayette plays host for tournament

WAITING—(left) Archers await the whistle that signals the start of the round. The event followed rules set by the National Archery in Schools Program. The Fayette tournament was the fifth of six events, leading up to the state finals next month in Columbus.

Photos by David Green

ADD IT UP—(right) After shooting a round, students proceed to the targets to determine their score and retrieve arrows.

SCORING—(left) Fayette's Cassie Leininger studies the placement of an arrow in the target while a Hilltop student records the score.

SHOOTING—(above) Zoie Brown of Fayette prepares to release her arrow.

READY FOR NEXT ROUND—(right) A Hilltop archer places her arrows back in a holder before the start of the next shoot.

